LABOR'S GREAT PLAY DAY

How Workers Will Honor the Memory of a Leader.

PROGRAM IS DECIDED ON

Marshall Hall Will Be Crowded With People Who Will Take a Breathing Spell—Sports of All Kinds and Recreations Promised—Hares Which Will Interest Men and Women Alike.

Final arrangements for the excursion to be given on Labor Day at Marshall Hall under the auspices of D. A. 66, K. of L., the Federation of Labor and the Association of Electric Engineers were perfected yesterday at a meeting of the special committees representing these organizations.

The excursion, as has already been stated in The Times, is given for the purpose of raising funds to erect a monument to the memory of the late E. J. Rea, to whose personal efforts is largely due the credit of the establishment of Labor Day as a national holiday. This circumstance alone would be sufficient to guarantee an outpouring of the members and friends of organized labor any day in the year. Now, however, since the masses, in contributing to the monument fund, will at the same time have an opportunity to enjoy a pleasant day's outing, it goes without saying that there will be an immense gathering of the friends of labor present on that occasion.

COMMITTEE ON ARRANGEMENTS.

The committee of arrangements is using every effort to make the affair a grand success, both socially and financially. Already more than 4,000 tickets have been disposed of and it is confidently expected before the day comes the sales will have been increased to 6,000 or 7,000.

Besides the members of the special committee there were also present at the meeting yesterday representatives from forty-four organizations, including the D. A. 66 and the Federation of Labor, who were instructed by their locals to say that the enterprise would receive the undivided, moral and financial support of the bodies.

Messrs. A. M. Lawson, Charles H. Worden and C. H. Holmes, respectively, chairman, secretary and treasurer of the central committee, submitted a program of amusements, which was unanimously endorsed by the whole committee. The program includes games of various kinds, prize dancing, foot races, and a baseball game, in which the baseball team composed of members of the tinners and plasterers' assemblies.

Among the special attractions may be mentioned the ladies' boat race, in which the contestants are Misses Emma and Mary Berry, a hydrocycle race from River View to Marshall Hall between Messrs. Lawson and Melver of the Electric Engineers and Thomas O'Dea and John Carr of the Carpenters' association, and the "rooster dance," which will be performed for the first time in this section. Besides these there will be bicycle, sack, and barrel races open to members of organized labor. In the tub race Mrs. Annie Hardy, Mrs. Florence Casey, and Miss Jane Berry will compete.

THE PRIZES.

There will be $300 in cash prizes being up in the several contests, besides which there will be a number of small prizes and medals donated by the friends of labor.

Carpenters' Assembly No. 1 will give an excursion to River View the same day, and it is expected that they, too, will join the great majority of labor representatives at Marshall Hall during the latter part of the day.

ANDERSON'S QUEER DEATH

Stranger in Washington Found Unconscious in His Room.

SUSPICIONS OF SUICIDE

Taken to the Hospital, He Sank Rapidly—He Had Come to the City Ten Days Ago From Demerara, Guyana—Had But Little Money and Few Friends.

W. A. Anderson, a stranger in Washington, was found unconscious in his room at No. 1006 Pennsylvania avenue yesterday, and died at Emergency Hospital soon after admission.

The cause of death cannot be determined until an autopsy is performed, and this will be done today. The opinion of some who saw the man during his dying moments is that he committed suicide with poison.

Anderson reached Washington ten days ago from Demerara, Guyana, where he had been employed for three years as a furnace in the construction of a line of railroads. He came to Washington, so he mentioned to his landlord, to secure a job on an electric line, which he understood was soon to be built. One week ago he was taken to the hospital, where he lay for a few days, but he was unable to get up, or to purchase medicine at a pharmacy.

LIVED QUIETLY.

He lived quietly and made few acquaintances around the house. He had one friend to call, John Dick, who had come up from Demerara with him, and who had secured a job on one of the electric railroads. Among some of the things which he was in the habit of saying, was, "I haven't seen five white women in three years till I got back to the States."

The landlord was aroused at 4 o'clock yesterday morning by hearing a sound in Anderson's room. Then a crash echoed through the house. The landlord found that Anderson had fallen out of bed and in clutching at the scarf of the wasteband had pulled off and demolished the pitcher and basin.

When the landlord entered the room Anderson was on the floor. His knees were drawn up to his chin and he was emitting painful groans. He said that he was very ill, but thought that he would pull through all right, and that it was only another, though severe, spell of the same malady which he had been afflicted for one week. He was assisted into bed and nothing more was heard of him till 7 o'clock. Once more his groaning brought the landlord to the scene. Anderson was given a cup of warm tea, which he drank with relief. The doctor, Dr. L. J. Latham, in the day the landlord looked in once more upon his patient. There was a pulse on his face which was feeble, and his breathing was very faint. Policemen Sears and Sprinkle of the First precinct were notified and the patrol wagon was called.

When Anderson reached the hospital his pulse was imperceptible. There was froth about the mouth, but the pupils of his eyes were not dilated. Surgeon McElrath and his assistants washed out the stomach and rectum, but to no avail, and the labor was without result. Anderson passed quietly away without regaining consciousness. There was nothing on his person to indicate that he had friends or relatives. He had but four cents in money and a cheap flannel shirt and trousers.

CORONER NOTIFIED.

Coroner Humphrey was notified and an autopsy will be held at the hospital today. In Anderson's room there was nothing to indicate that he had committed suicide. There were three whisky flasks, one partly full of liquor. There was a bottle of blood purifier, containing a solid of iodine, salt and sugar, and a small bottle, which had evidently contained penicillin. These were among the medicines which he had purchased at the nearby drug store.

It is not known that he had any friends here. It is thought that some workmen that he dropped among his fellow lodgers, that his home is in St. Louis.

BIG HAWAIIAN LOAN.

Hon. P. C. Jones Coming to Float $3,300,000 in Bonds.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 9.—Honolulu, Aug. 9.—Honolulu, Aug. 9.—The Hawaiian loan of $3,300,000, authorized by the government, after the defeat of the original bill of King Kalanikouhi, is now being floated by the Hawaiian legislature.

While the loan is generally expected here, it is not known that the minister of finance and his refunding bill were both set aside to favor the local money market. It is thought that some workmen that he dropped among his fellow lodgers, that his home is in St. Louis.

STRUCK AN OFFICER.

Patrick Reedy Was Drunk and Didn't Want to Be Arrested.

Patrick Reedy, a blacksmith, was arrested last Saturday night by Policemen Kelly, of the Eighth precinct, for assault and battery upon Special Officer James O'Day.

The trouble occurred shortly after midnight at Kozie's saloon, on Fourteenth street, near 8th, where the drink Reedy was very much under the influence of liquor, and created such a disturbance that the special was called. In placing him under restraint, Reedy was not only not injured himself, but he injured the special who was called. In placing him under restraint, Reedy was not only not injured himself, but he injured the special who was called. In placing him under restraint, Reedy was not only not injured himself, but he injured the special who was called.

Held Up Near Alexandria.

Henry Fry was held up on the Washington road near the brick yard, about 10 o'clock Saturday night, by three colored men. They assaulted him and the horse became frightened and ran away. It is thought that the highwayman believed that Fry was Mr. John Nelson on his way to the brick yard with money with him to pay off the bill.

Ford May Die Today.

The condition of John L. Ford, who was shot by "Lum" Pearson, in Georgetown, Friday night, was reported at the Emergency Hospital, at 3 o'clock this morning, as being quite low, and that he might die at any time.

NOTORIOUS CROOKS CAUGHT

Chicago Officers Arrest Men Who Have Stolen $750,000.

The Trio Has Operated in Many States, Have Sold Bogus Mining Stock and Worked Lottery Schemes.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—By the arrest last night of the principals, one of the worst combinations of swindlers that has preyed on the American public and whose operations have extended over many years and invaded many States, has it is confidently believed, been broken up.

Acting on information from Postal Inspector J. J. Lemmon, who has been working on the case at New York for some time, that he had located two members of the combination and would arrest them there, James F. McCreary, William Thomas and J. J. Tallman were last night taken into custody on the charge of using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes.

Their New York confederates, William H. McCreary and Dr. John Crook, for years these men have conducted fraudulent schemes of various kinds under different firm names, seldom remaining long in one locality, and have secured, it is believed, fully $750,000 from their dupes.

The earlier operations of the gang were in connection with a fake lottery scheme at Kansas City, Mo., and later on in a pretended connection with the Louisiana lottery, in which enterprise they reaped rich harvests. Later they have been engaged in so-called "bucket shop" business in the city, using various aliases, among them being "Patterson & Co.," "Craig & Co.," "Thomas & Co.," and have also engaged in the sale of bogus mining stocks to a large extent.

The running to earth of these alleged swindlers was the work of John T. Hill, jr., chairman of the civic federation gambling committee and vice president of the Chicago Board of Trade, and Mayor James E. Stuart of the Postal Inspection Service.

The three men arrested here were taken before United States Commissioner Humphrey and bound over for trial.

CAR FELL INTO A CREEK

Five Persons Killed in a Prigntful Accident at Columbia, Pa.

Columbia, Pa., Aug. 9.—A frightful trolley accident occurred at 10 o'clock this morning when a trolley, carrying five persons, fell into a creek.

A crowded car was returning from Chicago Park when a rear wheel broke and the car was thrown over a twenty-foot embankment, falling into a creek.

Five passengers were killed outright and two were injured, many of them very seriously.

Following is the list of fatalities so far obtainable: Killed—Chief Burgess H. H. Hays, of Columbia; Adam Foenninger, formerly of Columbia; James L. Ladd, of Trenton, N. J.; Henry Smith, Columbia; William Tinkerson, Columbia.

Twenty-nine injured passengers, many of whom are expected to die, were brought to Columbia Hospital. A full list is not obtainable tonight.

Among the injured are: L. B. Kerper and wife of Lancaster; Lizzie Bender, George Bender, Lancaster; Miss Brinkman, Lancaster; and others.

Physicians have gone from Lancaster to the wounded.

Hot Republican Canvass.

Towanda, Pa., Aug. 9.—The Bedford county primary yesterday brought out 80 per cent. of the Republican voters. The preliminary canvass was the hottest yet known here, and neither of the opposing factions can claim a complete victory, as both have representation on the ticket. The electors vote direct for the electors, and the electors vote for the electors.

Representatives, Louis Pickett, Robert B. Edmington, and Lawrence T. Manley; sheriff, Thayer M. Pickett; clerk, John B. Litley; register and recorder, Miss M. Galt; treasurer, Joseph G. Waldron; commissioners, Edward M. Pickett and Horace M. Spilling.

NO SECOND-HAND BARRELS

Journeyman Coopers Fighting Their Farther Use.

WHY THEY ARE DOING IT

Claim That They Are Uncleanly and Are the Recipients of Disease—Have Called the Attention of the Health Officers to the Case—In a Win.

The journeyman coopers of Georgetown have started a crusade against the use of second-hand barrels.

Their claim is that in many cases barrels totally unfit are used the second time, when they really ought to have been broken up and burned. They assert that they remodel barrels that are dirty and filthy in the extreme, and that the use of such barrels is a menace to the public health. Action has been taken by them, with a view of prohibiting the use of barrels the second time, and as a result their efforts will probably be taken in hand by the health authorities and only new barrels will be permitted.

ACTION TAKEN.

At a recent meeting of the journeyman coopers the extensive use of second-hand barrels was discussed from every standpoint, and action was taken with a view of putting a stop to the use of what they call, receptacles of filth. The committee which had been previously appointed to look into the matter was able to give the fullest information from the fact that in remodeling second-hand barrels in the cooper shops they could know their condition, both before and after cooping.

SUNDAY WAS RED—HOT AND DEATHS FROM HEAT WERE MANY

the bedside of the dying soldier. Shortly his breathing subsided.

When Dr. Tortington reached the room he saw that death was near. The man died a few minutes past 8 and Dr. Tortington declared that it was heat stroke. The coroner was notified and an autopsy will be held today. It is not known what disposition will be made of the body.

From papers found in the trunk of the dead man it was learned that he existed at Santa Fe, N. M., in 1874, and was assigned to Company A, First Infantry. He served two enlistments in this company and a third enlistment in Company C, of the same regiment. He was transferred to Company D, Seventh Infantry, now at Angel Island, San Francisco harbor. For some reason not clear, he was dishonorably discharged from the army a few weeks ago and ten days ago he came to Washington for an interview with the officials of the War Department. He desired to re-enlist. Among his effects was a letter signed "Ed," dated at Philadelphia, August 3, and beginning "Dear Uncle."

McIntosh was a heavy-built fellow and very muscular. It is thought that he has some friends at the War Department. These are thought to have been once regimental officers of the commands in which the man served.

THOSE PROSTRATED.

A white woman, about fifty-five years of age, was picked up in an unconscious state about 10 o'clock last evening, at the corner of Eleventh and H streets north west. She was carried to the Emergency Hospital in the first precinct patrol wagon, where the doctors found that she was suffering from a sunstroke. Three other cases of prostration were reported in the neighborhood, but no one knew anything of the woman. She has gray hair, is below the average height, and very frail looking. Her hands were cold and her pulse was weak. In the afternoon she was found in a hospital. After an hour's hard work the hospital physicians succeeded in restoring her to consciousness. She gave the name of Mary Moran, and stated that she lived at the corner of Eleventh and H streets. Patrol Driver Loftis, of the First precinct, made numerous inquiries in the neighborhood, but no one knew anything of the woman. She has gray hair, is below the average height, and very frail looking. Her hands were cold and her pulse was weak. In the afternoon she was found in a hospital. After an hour's hard work the hospital physicians succeeded in restoring her to consciousness. She gave the name of Mary Moran, and stated that she lived at the corner of Eleventh and H streets.
